The Sequoia Staff believes that the patterns established during the four years in high school later guide students through their lives in their homes and in the community.

Thus, the staff captures the theme of their 1956 Sequoia as the students put their best foot forward. . . . . .

ADVISORS: Mr. Chiappetta, Mr. Cahill, Mr. Grady.

Highlights of the senior class activities this year were the Christmas formal on December 23 and the winning of the first prize in the Homecoming parade in the fall.

Eleven seniors, plus the stage crew, worked together to produce the class play, "The Curious Savage," which was presented April 13 and 14.

Sheryl Mair, Cathy Lense, and Don Cardiff represented the class in the Student Council.

As the Sequoia went to press, plans were being made for a class trip in the spring.

The class Homecoming float "Skunk-em" won second prize. Sandra Tegelman, escorted by Francis Dorner, was the attendant to the Homecoming queen.

Class projects to raise money for the May prom were the class play November 11 and 12, the school candy store, the candy counter at the games, and the selling of Homecoming pins.

Class rings were chosen in October and received in February. Betty January, Fred Libert, and Lynn Bolton served as Student Council representatives.

Mrs. Tulumello, Advisor; Mr. Cramer, Advisor; J. Keisler, Treasurer; E. Christensen, Secretary; J. Tully, Vice-President; R. Behrens, President.

For Homecoming the freshman class was in charge of the bonfire after the parade, and they also entered a float entitled "Shoot to Victory." Jill Gaston, escorted by Dick Behrens, was the freshman attendant at the dance. The class handled dances after the games and also held a party in the spring. The week of March 12-16 they sponsored Bundle-Week, which is a clothing drive for needy children in the United States and overseas. The representatives for the Student Council were Sandy Barnstable, Alan Moorman and Roger Van Patten.

Student Council

The Student Council sponsors many school social activities such as Homecoming, the Thanksgiving and Christmas programs, and student assemblies and duties as well as serving as the student body government.

At Christmastime the Student Council decided to give $20 to each of four charitable organizations and to give canned goods for other worthy groups. One of the largest money-making projects was the selling of popcorn at the games. The members also sold Christmas cards, school pennants, and pins to raise funds for the various activities provided for all the students.

The general purpose of this body is to co-ordinate more closely the working relationships of the students and their activities, their faculty relationships, and their social life. The twenty-nine council members are the representatives of the classes, the presidents of all state organizations, and the delegates to Boys and Girls' State.

The Modern Music Masters' Society consists of students who are worthy of special honors in the field of music.

Two initiations were held, one in the fall and another in the spring for those who proved their ability during the school year. At this year's fall initiation the group's first honorary membership was presented to Mrs. Aschenbrenner, who spends a great deal of time helping others with music.

Twenty-one girls from the home economics classes joined the F. H. A., whose purpose is to make happier homes, now and in the future. In the fall a beautiful formal installation of officers was held with the girls' mothers as guests.

Activities of the year were the Homecoming float, Red Cross boxes, and food baskets to deserving families. The club had a Christmas party where gifts were exchanged, sponsored a bake sale, and had a style show for their sewing projects.

Judy Horton attended the officers' State Leadership Camp at Lake Bloomington last summer.

To end a successful year the club had a picnic at Fox River Park.

The group sponsored several roller-skating parties during the year and a swimming party in the spring. Another spring event was the mother-daughter banquet.

Radio Club

A new club, the Antioch Sequoit Radio Club, was founded in A. T. H. S. this year. The aim of the club was for every one of its members to become a "ham" or amateur radio operator. It also provided for those who were interested a means for learning the principles of radio.

The officers were Steve Aschenbrenner, president, and Carolyn Stoffle, secretary pro tem. Mr. Chenette sponsored the club.

Pep Club

A second new club was formed in November of 1955. Its purpose was to promote a better, more enthusiastic school spirit, a spirit undaunted by defeat and full of hope for the future.

The officers who were elected by the members were as follows: president, Donald Wertz; vice-president, Robert Wertz; secretary, Sue Kopack; treasurer, Mary Forbrich; chief rooters, Yvonne Bigner and Betsy Frazier; game announcer, Jim Stonis; sponsor, Mr. Heath.

This year the Pep Club selected their hats and letters, sold pom-poms, and advertized the games. The cheers were written up for the benefit of those who didn't know them. The club posted the "welcome" signs at our home games and promoted the idea of the play-by-play announcer, which went into successful effect.

These boys, who wear an "A" hat as their emblem, have gained membership into this club by earning a major letter in football, baseball, basketball, or track.

1955 Homecoming

What's Homecoming without royalty?

The 1955 Homecoming will be well remembered as one of the most successful ever. The parade with its array of beautiful floats, decorated cars, and spirited music of the A. T. H. S. band was led by the gay queen and her court.

To further promote the Homecoming spirit the Sequoits trampled Fenton High with a score of 32 to 0. The climax of the event was the coronation with dancing to the dreamy music of Bob Vogel and his band in an atmosphere carrying out the theme, "Autumn Leaves."

A Scotch theme wins first for the seniors.

Juniors "Skunk-em" for second place.

Senior Class Play

The Curious Savage was presented by the Senior Class under the direction of Miss Howard. The play centered around Mrs. Savage, a rich woman, who was committed by her children to "The Cloisters," a place for mental patients. Her children hoped to gain control in this way of the Savage fortune.

With the inmates of "The Cloisters" the play came alive with comedy and also with the seriousness of life in a mental institution.

1955 Prom

A picturesque underwater scene meets the eye as we enter through beautifully draped fish nets for the prom, Aqua Nocturne. Dancers twirl past caverns with treasures, anchors and colorful sea creatures. The bandstand and punch table are giant clams, and an enormous octupus stretches overhead to make us feel as if we are dancing to Johnny Kaye's orchestra on the bottom of the sea.

A spotlight illumines the climax of the evening, the presentation of the queen and her court. A few more dances and everyone departs with a treasure chest of memories of a wonderful prom.

Variety

Each of the four classes presented variety shows again this year for the student body. The winners of these shows presented an all-school show for the community March 9 with Mr. Chiappetta as director. The other acts from the various classes performed at the Lake Villa and Antioch grade schools and Downey Hospital.

The seniors, who presented the first show with John Kelly as master of ceremonies, featured a pantomime with JoAnne Haydon and Rosalie Morris, a tap dance with Lillian McNeil and Carole Hansen and an instrumental number by Cain's Cotton Pickers as the top three acts.

Shows

Next in line came the junior show with Dick Vlk's comedy act, Rosa Mena's dance, and the Jay Cribb trio taking top honors. The master of ceremonies for this show was Richard Srch.

The sophomores followed with Frank Ferdon as emcee. The top acts were the strollers, a piano solo by Janet Eppers, and a comedy skit by Karen Rentner and Paula Zeien.

The final show of the year was presented by the freshmen with Forrest Stahmer to introduce the acts. The three winners were a pantomime entitled Playmates, a hula dance by Marion Doyle, and a piano solo by Forrest Stahmer.

A. T. H. S. Band

This year the A. T. H. S. music department grew to a total of one hundred and thirty students. Various new musical groups were formed with the addition of a prep band, a madrical group, and several trios, quartets, and sextets from both the vocal and instrumental line.

Five programs were presented to the public with a fall band concert, a winter concert by the choruses, a Christmas concert with both vocal and instrumental groups performing together, a spring band concert, and a spring vocal recital.

On October 8 the Antioch band attended the First Annual Band Day at Northwestern University. There they marched, along with 4, 000 other band members, on the field during the half-time of the Minnesota-Northwestern football game and enjoyed the game as guests of the university. The musicians attended the district music contest at Gurnee on April 7.

The A Cappella Choir this year consisted of fifty-two members. It was very well balanced in voices in that there were twenty-six girls and twenty-six boys.

They chose for their president, Don Wertz; vice-president, Jill Camphausen; secretary, Robert Terry; and librarians, Barbara Domek and Frank Albert.

During the year they presented a special assembly program before the student body and also performed in the Christmas Concert, in which they featured "The Night Before Christmas." They gave a Winter Choral Concert and a Spring Festival. In May they took part in the Conference Music Festival at Fenton High School. The music contest this year was held in April at Warren Township High School.

.....honoring the school with ATHLETICS

An all-around good bunch.

Varsity Cheerleaders

At last year's spring election the student body re-elected Jackie Martin, Carole Hansen and Sue Wolfinbarger to the cheerleading squad for the fourth year and moved Janet Rogers up from the junior-varsity squad. Rosalie Morris and Donna Reidel were newcomers to the group.

The girls spent many hours after school practicing their cheers and planning the many pep assemblies for the year. These pep-boosters mixed business and pleasure when they attended a cheerleaders' clinic at Illinois State Normal University in the fall.

Junior-Varsity Cheerleaders

Four freshman and two sophomore girls led the cheers for the junior-varsity squad this year. The two sophomores, Rose Ellen Furlan and Karen Rentner, had cheered as freshmen too.

They, like the varsity squad, are under the direction of Miss Donovan, who serves as faculty sponsor.

A rare moment of rest.

ROW 1: S. Barnstable, K. Rentner, J. Gaston. ROW 2: E. Christensen, C. Keulman, R. Furlan.

Varsity Football

The Antioch Sequoits tied for second place honors, along with Grayslake, in the conference standings for the 1955 football season, winning six games and losing two. The games played and the scores are as follows:
